Morning Service

"On National Pearl Harbor Remembrance Day, we honor the memories of the 2,403 service members and civilians whose lives were cut short on that tragic December morning. We reflect on the resilience of America's Armed Forces, who withstood the attack and built the most capable fighting force the world has ever known. In the wake of tragedy, these brave women and men—the Greatest Generation—answered the call to defend freedom, justice, and democracy across the Pacific, throughout Europe, and around the globe. Today, we carry forward their spirit of unity and their enduring resolve to protect the United States against those who seek to do us harm." 2022 White House resolution on Pearl Harbor Day

"Good King Wenceslas"

Have you heard this Christmas tune? Written in the 1800s, this carol is a beautiful tribute to a kindly young man named Wenceslas from medieval times. Wenceslas's kindness and generosity extended to the rich and poor alike. He was greatly dedicated to giving shelter to the homeless as well as to buying the freedom of slaves—especially the freedom of slave children. In an effort to spread Christianity further, Wenceslas invited missionaries to Bohemia.

Then, of course, there is the story of "Good King Wenceslas" from the traditional Christmas carol. It describes a scene from the life of Wenceslas that gives a touching glimpse into his heart. The carol tells of a cold, bitter night when Wenceslas and a page, or helper, notice a poor man gathering firewood. The kindhearted king asks where the man lives. When learning that the poor man lives against a faraway fence, the king instructs the page that they will go that very night and provide the man with a meal.

Because of his grandparents' guidance, he had grown to have a strong, genuine faith in Jesus Christ. He remained faithful his young life, murdered by his brother Boleslav (BO leh slav) at the age of 25, thought it was not fitting for a king to mingle with the poor.
